So, richard. The ball is in your court. Now, I already can envision what you're going to do, threaten us with a few blacklists, use your 1k members to your advantage. That's all you do it seems, Richard. No care for others but yourself, you always have to one up everyone to be that guy, but let's be real, you're only getting off the hook because all you can do is threaten people with your members, what an unloyal owner. So I think it's time to own up.

Now, as much as you may want to ignore this document, we'll make it as unignorable as possible until we get the public apology we need as a community. We are sick, tired and fed up of your antics thinking you run everything nowadays, so are you ever going to own up to your actions? Or are you going to use the 1k members to your advantage and be a prick? It's simple richard, just be a tad nice then maybe people will actually like you. As shown, you left a Group Chat TWICE because you didn't have an answer to anything, everything you said, you knew nothing about. This is your call to action to apologise for everything you've done. And for any groups, this is a call to action to blacklist & spread the word. Contact thatf1fin on discord to be added to the page below of groups participating in this blacklist.
